

Mudumalai lowers himself into the water. Then my father and I scrub him from trunk to tail. Elephants are ticklish, so we scrub hard.

Mudumalai likes being washed. He rolls onto his side and waves his trunk. He sprays water into the air.

What kinds of jobs do you share with your parents?